ADMINISTRATOR'S CORNER

REFLECTION FOR THE SECOND SUNDAY OF ADVENT

“One mightier than I is coming after me.” In today’s Gospel, John the Baptist speaks about what’s to come. It’s going to be different. It’s going to be better. When he comes—the Messiah—something amazing is going to happen. “I have baptized you with water,” John says, but “he will baptize you with the holy Spirit.”

With the coming of Christ, we move from water to Spirit—in other words, from the natural to the supernatural. Jesus takes our lives to a new level. But we have to be ready to join in on this spiritual journey. That’s why John went around baptizing people for the repentance of their sins. He wanted to be sure their spirits were open to the Spirit. He wanted to help them be ready when the time came.

During Advent, we take a similar approach. We focus on what lies ahead: the coming of Christ. Of course he already came at the first Christmas when he was born of the Virgin Mary. Certainly, part of this season involves preparing for Christmas when we remember this original “advent” of the Lord. But another important element of these days is to make ourselves ready for the second coming of Christ. This is the moment for which we must always be ready. But we have an advantage that John’s followers did not have.

We already have the Spirit of the Lord in our hearts as baptized Christians. Now, the Lord himself is at work in our souls to prepare us for his return. The question is only how cooperative we are going to be in the process. How attentive will we be to the promptings of this Holy Spirit which are often as quiet as a whisper? Let’s be sure, during the busy pre-holiday bustle, to set aside enough quiet time that we can properly “prepare the way of the Lord” by listening to his voice.

God Became Human: A Reflection on Advent

Msgr. Charles W. Cicerale, (Part Two)

Advent has four weeks. In the first week, we are encouraged to be on guard; stay awake to the miracle of the Incarnation daily; for Advent is a season of special revelation. So this week look for and expect to see and experience traces of God's presence. During the second week, we turn to the title of Jesus that most perfectly captures the idea of Incarnation: Immanuel, "God with us." Where do you look for God? We Catholics look for God's presence especially in the Eucharist, the Word and in Ministry.

In week three, we are invited to examine the testimony of John the Baptist, and do something in response to what we hear. That something is "repent and believe the Good News." Get personally involved with the Word made flesh, the Christ, the Son of the Living God. We can do this by taking inventory of our motivation, mode, goal and perspective in living out our daily lives. And in week four, we are challenged to walk with Mary, and "Do not be afraid" for Jesus is near. Some Saints would say: closer to us than the air we breathe! Choose then to look as this season holistically if you want it to be meaningful. To fruitfully enter into this season, take inventory of your relationship with Christ that is rooted in the Mass, the Word and the people.

These three means will strengthen the deep personal bond to Jesus Christ. Everything hinges on this bond. The heart of our religion is knowing Jesus intimately, loving Jesus intensely and following Jesus more closely. Allow some questions to spark you reflection. If you're reading this, clearly your faith means a lot to you. First, what is your motivation? Do you go to Mass out of obligation or awe?

Do you see the Eucharist, Sacred Scripture, and your ministry as an opportunity for God to touch you and continue to form you into the image of his Son? Choose awe over obligation, pick up the New Testament before your smart phone, read it for 10 minutes each day for these 30 days of Advent, and see what happens. Second, are you engaged in Mass, Word and ministry as an observer or a participant? Do you listen passively to the Scriptures at Mass or actively seek the connection with your own life? Do you participate in ministry and genuinely listen to the needs of others, or is your agenda uppermost in your mind when you are with another? To be continued Next Week!
